FOURTEEN PAGES—THREE CENTS

Husband of Kidnaped Woman is Waiting For New Ransom Demands

Stony Brook, N. Y., June 10.—(AP)—Abandoning efforts to comply with instructions in a $25,000 ransom note found after the mysterious disappearance of his wife, Mrs. Alice McDonnell Parsons, 38, socially prominent Long Island heiress, her husband waited in his home tonight for new directions for obtaining his wife's release.

The crudely printed ransom demand which emerged as the principal clue to Mrs. Parsons' whereabouts instructed the husband, William H. Parsons, to keep a rendezvous at Jamaica Bay terminal—but he failed to do so because of crowds gathered at the terminal.

After police and federal agents cleared the road to the estate where Parsons had lived, he announced his willingness to comply with any demands of the supposed kidnapers, and asked for new instructions.

His movements were shielded by a half hundred state, county and federal investigators who set up emergency headquarters on his secluded 11 acre farm, situated in the "Gold Coast" region of Long Island's north shore. They had begun to converge on the scene before the ransom note was found tucked away in the upholstery of the family car, parked outside the white Colonial House.

Two other possible clues, a blood-stained hatchet and an axe were discarded when police toxicologists in New York City found the stains on the hatchet were caused by an animal's blood. No stains of any kind were found on the axe.

The possibility of murder was further discounted when Mrs. Leona Newton, a former postmistress, reported seeing Mrs. Parsons drive through the village yesterday about two hours after she left her home with an unidentified, middle-aged couple who ostensibly were interested in renting or buying some property owned by the missing woman.

Mrs. Parsons was traveling toward the East in a strange automobile and was accompanied by one other person, this witness said. Her property lay about 15 miles to the west, near Huntington.

No alarm was felt until her husband, William H. Parsons, returned last night from a trip to New York's lower East Side, where he had gone to obtain a Russian recipe for squab paste, worried by his wife's failure to return with the car.

Two hours after the ransom note was found by Bert Walker, an investigator from the district attorney's office.

Police Chief Edward Bridges of Brookhaven Township tonight disclosed a widespread search was underway for the middle-aged couple who drove away with Mrs. Parsons.

James Allen, of Port Jefferson, a few miles East of here, reported seeing a couple answering the description furnished by Mrs. Kaprynova sitting in a parked automobile on the pier of a ferryboat line operating between Port Jefferson and Bridgeport, Conn.

He first noticed them about 9:30 yesterday morning, Allen said. His attention was drawn to them because the license plates of their car bore the key letter of some county other than Suffolk, and because they remained in the pier for two hours.

Chief Bridges did not say whether Allen recalled their license number.

Allen said the woman got out of the car once and made a telephone call from the hotel opposite the pier. A waitress at the hotel, Bessie Kelly, who directed her to the telephone booth, described her as between 40 and 50 years of age. She wore expensive clothing.

Efforts were being made to check back on the telephone call.

Two bloodhounds brought from the state police barracks at Hawthorne sought to pick up the missing woman's scent in the rolling countryside 55 miles from New York City, which has been the locale of numerous fictional mystery stories.

STEEL WORKERS WIN PITTSBURGH PLANT ELECTION

CIO Gets Ninety Per Cent Margin In Two Mills

National Labor Director Announces Results

Pittsburgh, June 10.—(AP)—The Steel Workers organizing committee won its most impressive collective bargaining election victory tonight, a 90 per cent margin of all votes cast in the two nearby plants of the Pittsburgh Steel Corporation.

The total vote for the John L. Lewis union, on the question of whether the men wanted it to represent them in negotiations with the company, was 5,287 "yes" and 645 "no."

In the plant at Monessen, 3,586 workers voted "yes" and 490 voted "no." At the Allegheny Mill, 1,751 voted "yes" and 155 "no."

Union leaders had predicted an overwhelming margin of victory, but the vote was the greatest show of strength yet displayed by the union that started its drive a year ago and now claims more than 500,000 of the nation's 570,000 steel workers for its members.

Ernest C. Dunbar, acting regional director of the National Labor Board, which supervised the election, announced the result.

3 C.C.C. Enrollees And Worker Killed In Sand Pit Slide

Efforts to Revive Men Fail After Accident in Wisconsin

St. Croix Falls, Wis., June 10.—(AP)—Three Civilian Conservation Corps enrollees and a county workman were killed today when sliding sand buried them while working in a pit near here.

The county workman was Tom Simmons. Names of the CCC enrollees were believed to be Kook, Fischer and Beidel, but complete identification was withheld by camp officials pending a check of the camp roster.

A fourth CCC enrollee, Alvin Goldberg, a foreman of the camp crew which was working in the pit with a county crew, was extricated by fellow workmen.

Attempts to save the other four men, however, were blocked by the sand that slid into the pit almost as rapidly as workers could scoop it out.

Dr. J. A. Riegel of the St. Croix Falls hospital, where the men were taken immediately after they were unscathed, said efforts to revive them had failed after nearly two hours.

Belgians Pardon All Treason Offenders

Brussels, June 11.—(Friday)—(AP)—While the gallery cheered, the Belgian senate early today passed, 90 to 64, a bill to pardon all Belgians convicted of treason during the World War.

The amnesty measure, which brought a controversy that threatened a cabinet crisis when 400 angry World War veterans hurled their war decorations at the tomb of the unknown soldier on Wednesday in protest against the bill, came to vote after nightlong debate.

Premier Paul Van Zeeland, speaking on behalf of the government, sponsored measure, pleaded with the senate to approve it "for the sake of national unity."

Man's Objections To Arrest In 1932 Bathing Suit Is Overruled

Chicago, June 10.—(AP)—A 1932 bathing suit modeled by the owner before an amused court room today failed to convince a Superior Court jury that Attorney Timothy D. Hurley was entitled to damages for being arrested while wearing it.

Hurley brought suit for $25,000 against Lynn A. Williams and three policemen from suburban Evanston, alleging his reputation had been damaged by arrest on a charge of indecent exposure while he sunned himself on an Evanston beach five years ago.

Ignoring the lack of sand and Lake Michigan's blue background, Hurley—blushingly clad in his outmoded

Nurse Admits Rockefeller Scion Kidnap Plot is Hoax

Chicago, June 10.—(AP)—A sobbing young nurse confessed today she "framed the whole story" of a plot against John Rockefeller Prentice because she fancied he was losing interest in her.

Her statement, announced by Assistant State's Attorney Emmett Moynihan, ended a serio-comic episode involving the 27-year-old brunette, Miss Margaret Montgomery, the grandson of the late oil tycoon, John D. Rockefeller, Sr., and a suspicion of a sinister kidnapping scheme.

Prentice, 34, bespectacled attorney, confronted the tearful girl and said: "Well, I'm surprised, Peg." He declined to prosecute. The slender nurse was released. As she left the prosecutor's office, Prentice shook hands and observed:

"I'll see you later, probably."

The double-time drama began early today. Miss Montgomery was picked up by a police squad at an Ashland avenue restaurant, after she had called Prentice and asked him to meet her there.

The gist of her account to officials was this: She was seized by two men, bundled into a car, instructed to summon Prentice by telephone and let out near the cafe.

"One of them said he had been laying for Mr. Prentice for several years because he had disappointed his sister," officials quoted her. "They said they were using me to convey a message to him to settle down."

"I became frantic," she was quoted by Moynihan concerning the motive for the hoax. "I thought he was losing interest in me."

"And that's why you concocted the whole story," Queried Moynihan. The reply was a tremendous "yes."

"I wanted," she said, "to be a martyr."

Spanish Anarchists Killed in Battle With Loyal Guards

Customs Troop Engages Six Anarchists After Report of Smuggling

Perpignan, France, June 10.—(AP)—Six Spanish anarchists were killed tonight in the Spanish frontier town of Perpignan in a pitched battle with customs guards.

Dispatches from across the border said the battle broke out when the anarchists were sent to investigate reports that anarchists had hidden stolen gold and jewels in a sawmill on the outskirts of the town.

The anarchists, attempted to resist, but the superior arms and marksmanship of the government men quickly overcame them.

Eight anarchists were taken to jail where they will be tried by court martial tomorrow.

The carabinieri were the nucleus of a troop of 10,000 picked men formed by Premier Juan Negrin and Minister of Defense Indalecio Prieto when they were members of the cabinet headed by Francisco Largo Caballero.

Newspaper Guild Favors Court Plan

St. Louis, June 10.—(AP)—The American Newspaper Guild, newest affiliate of the Committee for Industrial Organization, went on record tonight in favor of President Roosevelt's Supreme Court proposal, while reaffirming its demand for a constitutional amendment "putting basic rights beyond the reach of judicial quibble."

A resolution, adopted by the Guild's fourth annual convention, declared failure by Congress to enact the president's plan to enlarge the membership of the court would be "a betrayal of the popular mandate of the last election." There was no debate on the resolution.

NASHVILLE SHERIFF TO HELP IN PEORIA CASE

Nashville, Tenn., June 10.—(AP)—Sheriff Tom Patton of Jackson, said tonight he was holding Marshall Kincaid for the recent slaying of Frank Evans and that he was not looking for anyone else.

A story of the Evans slaying was carried in the newspaper, found in the coat pocket of an unidentified man, whose body was discovered today in a refrigerator car at Peoria, Ill. Railroad officials said the car passed through Jackson June 4.

Sheriff Patton said he would, however, contact Peoria police.

RUSSIAN ARMY OFFICERS FACE TREASON TRIAL

Men in High Command Are Seized For "Treason"

Seven Officers Face Almost Certain Execution

Moscow, June 11.—(Friday)—(AP)—Seven of the highest officers of the Soviet army will go on trial for their lives today. A government announcement issued at 3 p. m. (8 p. m. Thursday, E. S. T.) said they were charged with treason.

Heading the list of accused was Marshal Mikhail Nikolaevich Tukhachevsky, vice-commander of war until just a month ago. Among the others were men who only a short time ago stood near the very top of the Soviet defense system.

They will go to trial behind closed doors. Conviction will mean they will be sent almost immediately before a firing squad without the right of appeal.

The trial will be held according to an emergency decree issued in December, 1934, immediately after the assassination of Sergei Mironovich Kiroff, chief aide to Joseph Stalin, in Leningrad. This provides for summary action against enemies of the regime.

A communiqué said all the accused had pleaded "fully guilty." This was considered to make it certain they faced early execution.

One of the officers, General Kaniukovich, a former military attaché in London, was arrested last August, but the others were imprisoned only within the last few days.

Some held important commands until Wednesday, when they were displaced in sweeping changes in the Red army's highest posts.

They were accused of treason to the fatherland; the people and the army; violation of their oaths of allegiance to the army and traitorous relations with an unnamed foreign government.

It was generally believed this last referred to Germany or Japan.

Association Hears Lewis' "Invitation" For State Medicine

Message of President Roosevelt Is Placed by Senator Lewis

Atlantic City, N. J., June 10.—(AP)—Medicine, federalized for part of the American population, the thing the medical profession has fought, was placed before the American Medical Association here today by President Roosevelt and U. S. Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois.

As the president's message-bearer Senator Lewis invited the members of the house of delegates of the association to cooperate with the administration in laws which would be of medical service to "the helpless and afflicted."

Senator Lewis explained that this meant government aid for those too poor to pay the cost of adequate medical care.

Speaking for himself as a proponent of social security legislation, Senator Lewis told the doctors that they would have to consider themselves as officials of the federal government in taking care of citizens.

Gao, French West Africa, June 10.—(AP)—Blond Amelia Earhart dropped her light monoplane today to a perfect landing at this African outpost along the Niger river today to complete another span on her leisurely flight around the world.

She had flown 1,140 miles from Dakar, French Senegal, skirting Timbuctu.

Her plane swept onto the landing field at 8:50 a. m. (central standard time) (2:50 p. m. Greenwich time), seven hours and 55 minutes after the Dakar takeoff.

With her was Navigator Captain Fred Noonan, who announced they would take off tomorrow for Khartoum in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan—2,200 miles across African desert and jungle.

200 Policemen Make Way Through Picket Lines For Workers

Youngstown, O., June 10.—(AP)—Wielding nightsticks and hurling gas bombs, 200 special policemen dispersed with few casualties tonight approximately 250 pickets at the Youngstown Steel Company's Monroe, Mich., plant in the far-flung steel strike for bargaining contracts with three major producers.

The clash was the second within 24 hours in the turbulent strike in which Gov. Martin L. Devey, of Ohio, has arranged a state peace conference tomorrow at Columbus.

Seventeen persons were injured and 14 arrested in an early morning clash between pickets, police and deputy sheriffs at a Youngstown plant of the Republic Steel Corp., of which the Monroe concern is a unit.

Protected by a gas barrage, police shattered the picket line at Monroe to open the way for 800 non-striking workers to enter the mill in an effort by Republic to resume operations at that point.

Earlier a negro organizer for the Committee for Industrial Organization was beaten and run out of Monroe. As the Michigan crisis neared, Senator Guffey (D-Pa.) asked the senate conduct of Republic Steel Corp., Inland Steel Co., and the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co.—the three concerns involved in the seven-state controversy which has made at least 73,000 men idle—in connection with the "holding and use of machine guns."

In Cleveland, where Republic has a food base for its food-fighting operations, plants at Warren and Niles, O., additional police were ordered to the air field as Mayor Harold H. Burton canceled the field's flying permit effective tomorrow night.

Samuel Handelman, CIO attorney, asked that the permit be revoked. He declared continued flying operations were a menace to residents in the neighborhood. Company attorneys said all regulations were being observed.

Youngstown police and sheriff's deputies swung their night sticks and released tear gas in a scramble of several hundred strikers and sympathizers aroused by the entrance of a food truck into a Republic plant. Fourteen strikers were gassed, a spectator was wounded by a tear gas shell and two policemen received new injuries.

The pickets reacted and police deployed a line of gas shells. The gas developed after the strikers placed a car across the road and police tried to remove it.

Government Begins New Madrid "Push"

Madrid, June 10.—(AP)—Government militia launched a new offensive today on the Guadalupe front north of Madrid, adopting surprise tactics in a swift raid.

The government forces captured 107 prisoners, four machine guns and one cannon on a hill in the region of Maesta de la Alcarria, north of Guadalajara.

The action was carried out before dawn after careful preparation and many of the insurgent troops were caught still asleep.

A relief insurgent battalion came up shortly but was driven off by government officers said. They reported 180 insurgent killed and wounded.

Harlow Funeral Mystery of Lone Gardenia Deepens

Hollywood, June 10.—(AP)—The mystery of the lone gardenia sent to Jean Harlow's funeral with an unsigned message deepened today.

Friends said Donald Friede, story editor for an actors' agency, sent it. Friede, close friend of the actress, declined comment.

A Hollywood florist said the buyer was not Friede.

The gardenia was placed in the actress' hand and sealed in her coffin with her. Its anonymous note said "Goodnight, my dearest darling."

Insurgents declared Guernica the "Holy City" of the Basque country was destroyed by Basques as they retreated.

BROCKELHURST COMMITTED TO STATE HOSPITAL

"Crime Tourist" To Be Observed As Insanity Test

Little Rock, Ark., June 10.—(AP)—Lester Brockelhurst, accused of the hitch-hike killing of Victor A. Gates, was committed to the state hospital here today by Judge W. J. Waggoner for observation as to his sanity.

The trial of the former Galesburg, Ill., Sunday school teacher scheduled for Monday on a first degree murder charge was automatically postponed.

Judge Waggoner directed that the hospital examination should be completed within 15 days.

The 23-year-old slightly-built Brockelhurst, who has fainted frequently since his arrest in New York state in mid-May, was brought here from the Lonoke jail.

He left behind his traveling companion, Bernice Felton, 18, of Rockford, Ill., also charged with the Gates' killing. Her trial date has not been set.

The two became known as "crime tourists" when New York authorities said Brockelhurst admitted slaying Alvin Karpis at Rockford, Ill., Jack Griffith at Port Worth, Tex., and Grace, a recently deceased near Lonoke during six weeks of hitch-hiking.

They pleaded innocent when arraigned for Gates' death.

In sending Brockelhurst to the state institution for observation, Judge Waggoner anticipated an insanity plea which defense attorneys said they planned to offer Monday.

"I am acting on information that the question of sanity will be raised," said Judge Waggoner in signing the order. "My procedure will save time."

A Great Responsibility
Jacksonville is fairly well acquainted with the state's huge responsibility in caring for the mentally ill and handicapped. But even we who live within the shadows of the Jacksonville State Hospital, the Illinois School for the Deaf and the Blind, can learn more about the operations of the state public welfare department. Persons residing in communities where there is no state institution always exhibit much interest in the manner in which the state provides for its wards.

The public welfare department cares for more than 50,000 persons in institutions, and 12,000 at large. There are more than 25,000 in state hospitals, 10,000 in penal institutions, 600 feeble-minded, almost 700 soldiers, sailors and widows, more than 800 dependent children of veterans, 935 delinquents and more than 900 blind and deaf children.

To serve them 60,000,000 meals a year, the department has to buy 90,000 barrels of flour, 3 million pounds of sugar, 6 million pounds of meat, 700,000 pounds of coffee, 150,000 bushels of potatoes and 54 carloads of eggs. Each year the welfare department produces in its own institutional farms $250,000 worth of vegetables, fruit and meat, a sixth of its total food. From its own land secured 2 million gallons of milk from its poultry 55,000 dozen eggs. Department employees and institution inmates earned 500,000 gallons of vegetables, fruits and preserves.

Local residents and visitors marvel at the vast farm and garden operations carried on by the state hospital here. The fields and gardens south and west of the city, under lease to the state, are planted in crops that will be harvested and consumed at the big institution where more than 3200 patients are cared for. The Jacksonville institution is but a unit of a vast system of hospitals and other places where unfortunates are housed and fed.

Illinois' responsibility begins with the thousands who are mentally, physically or socially unfit to care for themselves or to mingle with society. It must care for these unfortunates not a few months or a few years, but must maintain a permanent set-up for solution of a problem that has been growing in recent years.

Plowing Matches

In an area that is largely agricultural, it is no wonder that plowing matches are growing in interest and popularity in Morgan county. For a number of years such an event has been held at Rees station, attracting statewide attention. The Chapin community is now arranging to hold a plowing match at the annual Anti-Thief Association picnic.

There is much to be said in favor of these contests, where both tractor and horse-drawn plowing is done. The outstanding feature of a plowing match is its practicality. Plowing is one of the first requisites of raising a crop. Therefore, any person who is engaged in farming finds an appeal in a contest that is based on one of the jobs upon which his livelihood depends.

Most farmers know that a well worked field offers more prospect of a successful crop than one broken and worked in a haphazard manner. They also are interested in economy of operation. They like to see plowing done where they can compare equipment and methods. Their desire for new ideas often is fulfilled at a plowing match.

The Rees plowing match will be held August 11 at the Millford Rees farm near Rees station. The tentative date selected for the Chapin event is August 19 at the John V. Smith field at the edge of the village. The picnic proper will be held in the business part of the town.

Flying Grandmothers

Mrs. Lucy Shonhart of Pleasant Hill, Pike county, who was 75 years old last November, has joined the rapidly growing ranks of "flying grandmothers." She took her first airplane ride last week with a Quincy pilot who was in charge of short passenger flights in that vicinity for a couple of days. Mrs. Shonhart was reported to be enthusiastic about her plane ride and expressed hope to repeat it soon. Last month Mrs. Mary Brummell of Pleasant Hill, also 75, enjoyed her first trip into the air at the Quincy airport.

Stories of this kind are interesting, but are no longer unusual. In a few more years they may not even be considered worthy of mention. Air travel may still be in its infancy, but has appealed to and won favor of the aged. Flying grandmothers herald an era of air commerce such as we have never seen.

U. S. Needs New Ships

A special message which President Roosevelt sent to Congress this week seems of a sort not to stir up a controversy. The President told Congress that the United States must make a start on modernizing its merchant marine, and asked an initial appropriation for that purpose, with annual additions thereto until a total of 160 millions have been spent for such a program.

Congress last year enacted legislation defining the general marine policy of the nation, to include merchant ships of a number and character to carry domestic and foreign traffic to serve as a naval reserve in time of national emergency, owned and operated by American citizens and flying the American flag, and composed of the best types of modern ships.

It was simply to take the first step in this program that President Roosevelt presented the matter to Congress at this time.

Since 35 percent of the present American merchant ships will be obsolete within five years, and inasmuch as there was not a single new cargo ship laid down in American yards last year, it is plain that American ocean going ships are falling behind those of other nations in number and efficiency.

To stop this retrograde movement and reverse the trend, action must be taken soon.

County Relief Cost $11,411.18, Report of Local Administrator

Decrease Expected During June; 2,597 Persons in County Aided

There were 780 families totaling 2,597 people receiving relief from the county office of the Public Welfare department, a report filed by Administrator A. E. Williamson with the board of commissioners revealed Thursday. Total relief costs during the month of May amounted to $11,411.18, according to the report, and the administrator expressed an opinion that the cost during June would show further reductions from the over $11,000 monthly cost during the winter months.

The report showed that 972 families of employable persons, involving 3,087 people, received aid amounting to $4,415.17, and that 205 families of unemployed persons, involving 518 persons, receiving aid. There were only three cases in the county where the relief administrator found it necessary to supplement with relief funds the amount being received from the Works Progress Administration.

In addition to the families above, there were 46 persons receiving institutional aid, bringing the total amount spent for relief to $10,353.30. Costs of administration amounted to $1,020 for salaries of 12 persons, and $37.88 in operating expenses.

By far the largest portion of relief funds went for food; the breakdown of expenses showed. The county office issued orders for $4,735.19 worth of food, $215.97 worth of fuel, and $281.57 worth of shoes and clothing. Medical care cost the administration $661.18, and hospitalization of relief cases cost $651.06.

During the month there were 48 cases opened, 25 of which were new and 23 of which were cases reopened. The breakdown of these figures showed that 17 cases were opened because of the loss of WPA employment, 12 were opened because of the loss of private employment, four from the loss of farm employment, and 15 were classified as welfare cases.

MOTHER HELPED BY KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

"I have suffered from terrible constipation since the birth of my first child. I tried everything. Very reluctantly, I tried your ALL-BRAN with no faith in it at all.

"Much to my surprise, I have not had to take any medicine since starting to use ALL-BRAN." Mrs. Doris Eysa King, 16 Abbey Road, Oxford, England.

Common constipation is usually due to meals low in "bulk." Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies this needed "bulk."

Within the body, this cereal absorbs twice its weight in water, forms a soft mass, gently sponges out the system. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood.

Enjoy this food instead of taking weakening pills and drugs. Serve as a cereal with milk or fruits, or cook into recipes. ALL-BRAN is sold by your grocer. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

CHAPTER I

"Gee, really, Coral," Donna said, "you look almost pretty to-night. If you'd only do something about your hair. You should go downtown and let Pierre set it for you. A sculptured line is the thing." Donna ran her fingers complacently over the lacquered rings of her golden colts.

Coral Crandall laughed, then looked a little. "You're looking lovely," she said. "If only Marge were here now, she'd think Marge who had been her room-mate for three years, with whom she had laughed and talked and shared in pleasant intimacy. But Marge's mother was ill and Marge had not come back to Elton for her senior year. There is a small college here at home where I can get my degree," she had written, "and I must be close to Mother now."

No Marge had been succeeded by Donna Allen, lazy, wealthy and spoiled. Donna's father, William Allen, a millionaire chemical manufacturer, had withdrawn her from a fashionable Chicago finishing school, in disgust and sent her to Elton, his own university, hoping that the life there would implant in her the desire for knowledge and a healthier, more unselfish point of view. Coral had not cared who her roommate was, since Marge could not be with her, had willingly acquiesced to the seniority president's suggestion that Donna live with her.

"What a lovely girl," Donna said, "I ought to give you a kiss."

"What on earth about?" Coral asked.

"You weren't so wrapped up in your young dream these days, were you? You know what about. You've been seen with Professor Armstrong, the new man in the chemistry department, altogether too often. People are talking."

Coral laughed unbelievably. "What's wrong, Donna? Why should they? Other girls go around with some of the younger men in the different departments."

"Now as often as you go with David Armstrong. You haven't had another date since you met him a month ago, and you've dated him three or four times a week."

"Suppose I have. What of it?" "That's just it. It's easy to see that he has eyes for you, but you, and you're as silly about him. It's not just students but the faculty as well who are coming to know that you're a flirt. It's all right to date him occasionally, but you know they don't consider marriage or even engagements between teachers and students at Elton. Why, they won't even permit student marriages, the dump is so out of date."

Coral was disturbed. "That's absurd," Donna said. "David Armstrong isn't a flirt. He's a serious fellow. Well, we're nothing but good friends."

Donna's lips curled in mockery. "That line might go over better if it wasn't such a Greek god. You're crazy about each other, and if the two of you don't know it, everyone else does. He's asked you to the faculty dance tonight, and the only other students there will be those who have jobs in one of the departments or in the library."

It was mad. It was crazy. Coral told herself. But her heart said "yes" over and over. . . . and her lips said it, too.

CORAL sank down on the window seat, her mind whirling. Surely it couldn't be true. Donna was exaggerating. There was no harm in seeing David. . . . being with him outside of the classroom. How could there be? She loved David. But what then? Did he love her? And if he did, what hope was there? The college authorities would frown, her parents would be furious because of Hoyt. Hoyt, what of him?

And then there was a knock on the door. "Call for you, Coral," David was here, waiting. No time now to think of Hoyt or anyone else. With a last look into the mirror she caught up bag, wrap and gloves and ran down the stairs to David, whom she loved.

As they drove the few blocks to the gymnasium in David's low-slung roadster they were both so full of conflicting emotions and yet unsaid words for speech. As they went into the building David handed her a square white box. "Thought you might like these," he said.

She opened the box. Five camellias, satiny white and fragrant. "Oh, I do. Now let me rush to the cloak room and put them on. Wait for me." For the moment, she was gone, and David's heart was in his eyes as he watched her disappear.

Five minutes later Coral and David met at the entrance of the Coral. I hadn't meant to say this for a long time, but I can't help myself. I love you, darling Coral, do you love me?"

SUDDENLY the music faded and they were inexplicably alone on the floor. After a long time, Coral spoke. "I love you, too, David."

He caught her closer to him, then laughed exultantly. "Sweetheart, say it again. I can't believe it."

"I love you, Professor Armstrong. I do indeed." Coral's laugh, soft and happy, joined his. David grasped her hand, and oblivious of the glances which followed them, they left the ballroom. Wordlessly they found their wraps and entered the roadster. "Now," said David, then huskily, "My darling. Their lips met, parted, met again."

At last David released her. "Coral, darling, let's be married right away."

She answered him dreamily. "Yes, sweet, of course." Then she remembered. "David, we can't. Not for a long time. Not till I've graduated."

"Why not?" "They don't like our seeing so much of each other now. They'd never let us marry."

"Why do we have to tell them?" "We couldn't keep it a secret, darling. They'd find out, separate us."

"No, they wouldn't. It's March now. . . . you graduate in June. Not long to keep a secret, but forever to wait. I want to be sure of you. . . . never wake from this dream. Sweet, marry me tonight."

Coral started. "Tonight? Where could we go? Who would marry us? We've no license. It would be impossible."

"We could go over the state line in half an hour. There's a minister at Fairfield and we could be married right away. Will you come, Coral?"

It was mad. It was crazy. Coral told herself. But her heart said yes over and over. . . . and her lips said it, too.

FOUR hours later, the roadster came to a stop before the sorority house. Coral's head was on David's shoulder, on her finger was his silver ring. She would imagine, or were some of these people not quite cordial to her? Did they disapprove her presence there? For a feeling instant she wished she had not come, then the kindly greeting of Professor Maxwell, David's superior in the chemistry department, put her at her ease again.

"Professor Maxwell is a grand person, isn't he?" Coral said as they began to dance.

"He is that," said David, then his voice lowered and he spoke into her ear. "I started to tell you how beautiful you look, but your social obligations interfered. Now there aren't any words. That's the loveliest dress, you're the loveliest girl here or any place."

Coral's heart beat gladly. Her dress was pretty. Deep violet blue tulle, the color of her eyes, studded with sequin stars. "You'll turn my head. Besides, it's only the dress."

"It's more than that, Coral. It's you. The gray eyes looked into hers. A little flame burned in them and was reflected back. "Oh,

EAST OF CHARACTERS

CORAL CRANDALL, 21, is a senior at Elton College. She is a chemistry professor and Coral's mother is a chemist.

HOYT MARQUIS, Coral's classmate, is a senior at Elton College. He is a chemistry professor and Coral's mother is a chemist.

Yesterday Coral and David were married at Fairfield, Mo. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. Smith.

CHAPTER II

AS Coral walked across the campus from the Chemistry building to her sorority house, her mind was full of thoughts of David. She had been married two weeks. Sometimes it seemed a long time; at others, a matter of days. "I love him more every day," she thought to herself.

How splendid he had been when she told him about the boy from Wheatland, her home town. Hoyt Marquis, whom her parents had always assumed she would marry, to whom most of the students at Elton thought she was engaged. She had related the whole story to David, explaining why she had fallen in with the plans of both the Marquis family and her own, despite the fact that she did not love Hoyt. She had told him of the money her father owed Hoyt Marquis, Sr., who was Wheatland's richest banker. She had been afraid that David would be resentful, hurt that she had not confided in him before, or jealous of this other man. He had been perfect, though, thoroughly understanding, even laughing a little at her concern.

"Darling," he had chuckled at the end of their talk, "my only feeling about Hoyt Marquis is that he is more to be pitied than censured. After all, his loss is my gain. . . . if you get what I mean. And Coral had gotten it, of course, and had been well liked in the bargain. Her heart beat faster at the recollection. How happy, how incredibly fortunate and lucky . . . she was.

SHE turned up the walk leading to the dormitory and waved merrily to a pair of girls who were sitting precariously on the window sill of their room enjoying the spring sunshine. She envied them a little, for they were friends as she and Marge had been. As she said, it was impossible to establish the same happy, carefree relationship with Donna Allen, who thought every time she saw her that she was a rival. She had been so angry, so antagonized everyone who attempted to draw her into the inner circle of the sorority.

She let herself into the sorority house and stopped at the library table in the broad hall. She thumbed through the letters lying upon it. Yes, there was one for her with a Wheatland postmark.

The typewritten address meant that it was from her father. She opened it eagerly, but as she read her expectant look compressed into a little frown. They were expecting her home for spring vacation in a week. Many of the other young people would be home and there would be a number of parties. Hoyt had called and asked when she was arriving, and had seemed very eager to see her.

There was the rub. Hoyt. She supposed it was cowardly not to have written him before, but if she told him the truth, that she was married to David, then he'd be sure to tell her parents. If he told them that she was interested in someone else and wanted to make sure there was no definite understanding between them, they would promptly raise the roof, complain to her parents and his, and perhaps even insist that she leave the school.

She shrugged. There was no help for it. Hoyt would have to be told when everyone else was, and not before. But it was annoying to have to consider him and what he would do. She had never loved him. He did not really love her, but because it was to their parents' advantage they had been thrown together for so long that the companionship had become habitual.

HER brows still knitted in frowning concentration, Coral climbed the stairs to the second floor and opened the door of her room. Donna was sitting on the window seat, clad in over-elaborate green lounging pajamas, a box of chocolates at her elbow, a novel with a garishly printed dust jacket in her hand. As Coral entered, she looked up from her book. "Hi, there. It's late. I suppose you've been in the lab, nobly doing the work for tomorrow."

Coral nodded absently. She had not noticed the quizzical, slightly mocking tone of Donna's voice, or the curious, watchful look on her face. "What have you been doing?" she asked.

"Nothing. That is nothing constructive. I've been waiting here for the last two hours for you to come and translate 80 lines of Greek for me."

"I'll help you with it, of course. But I can't simply translate it for you and let you hand it in. I had a course last year and Dr. Shirr would recognize it in a minute. Coral was looking over the volumes in the case. "Where's the book?"

Donna sat up on the edge of the window seat, her eyes snapping. "Coral, for heaven's sake, don't be so . . . so prissy. You know quite well that I can't begin to translate that into any kind of sense. You've done it all once, it'll be no work for you. Besides, old Owl-Eyes won't know the difference."

Coral laughed in spite of herself. "You shouldn't make fun of Professor Shirr, Donna. And he's much canner than you think. He'd recognize my translation in a minute. Don't forget I was in his classes for three years, and he even knows how I make mistakes. It's all right for me to help you get started on your translation. But I couldn't do the whole thing."

for you. That's cheating. It wouldn't be right."

DONNA sprang to her feet. "Coral, you make me sick. All your talk about what's right and what isn't. You're a fine one to talk. I know a lot more about you than you think I do. You can't pull your sweet innocent act with me any more."

"Donna, what are you talking about?" Coral paled a little. "You must be crazy."

"Crazy am I?" Donna fairly screamed. "I'm not so crazy as to elope with a cheap chemistry professor who makes nothing but a mess of his work. MRS. DAVID ARMSTRONG!"

For a few moments there was a dead silence in the room. At last Coral spoke. "What do you mean?" Her voice was strained, held in control by terrific exertion of her will.

"You know what I mean," Donna said sulkily, frightened by Coral's voice, and her drawn, white face. "I couldn't find a handkerchief when I came in and I opened your drawer to borrow one of yours. The license was under the pile of handkerchiefs. Anyone might have found it."

"Donna, you're lying," said Coral. "That marriage license was locked in the drawer of my desk. The key was under the handkerchiefs."

"What difference does it make, as long as I found it?" Donna inquired insolently. "I'll be the campus sensation with this juicy little tid-bit of gossip to recount. You'll be expelled and your handsome David will lose his job."

Coral was aghast. "Donna, you're not going to tell anyone? You mustn't."

Donna sat down on the window seat again. "Why not?" "You know perfectly well why not. It must be kept a secret until June."

DONNA selected a chocolate from the box and munched it pensively. "I might be persuaded to keep your pretty little secret if you made it worth my while. If you translated my Greek, for instance, and seemed willing to do a few other odd jobs for me."

"Without a word," Coral rummaged through the bookcase until she found the Greek textbook, and sat down at the desk, paper and pencil beside her. "There seems to be nothing else for me to do. I ought to have this finished before dinner." She worked silently for a while, then without looking up, said, "You're realizing that this is a peculiarly low form of blackmail, Donna."

Donna grinned. "Call it blackmail if it makes you feel any better, sweetheart. It's darned convenient for me. And by the way, I have a date with Lefty Welsh tonight and I don't intend to be in until long after I'm supposed to be. I'll expect you to go downstairs and open the door for me between half-past 3 and 4 o'clock."

An involuntary spasm of distaste crossed Coral's face, and she did not escape Donna. "At any rate, I'll come home single," she mocked. "You can do my physics problems while you're waiting to let me in." She chuckled again and reopened her novel, coldly ignoring the brimming tears in Coral's eyes.

ELMER Lee Beadles, former Ashland youth who is now connected with Illinois Wesleyan University, wants to enter this year's Journal and Courier tennis championship tournament.

Here's hoping that Elmer Lee, who won the district singles title a few years ago, can make connections.

The dates for the tournament are announced today, so the boys who plan to enter can get their entries ready and their strokes sharpened up a bit with a little racket swinging.

DIRT courts may be used this year, if there is a sufficient demand.

Illinois College officials welcomed the tournament back to their courts after an absence of several years and have offered their concrete court, which will be repaired, and the dirt courts will be repaired.

Walter Bellatti also has offered his court and appeared quite pleased to do so. This column has been setting a number of requests as to the dates of the tournament, but waited until the sun came through the clouds yesterday afternoon before making any definite plans.

BOB HAMM and ELMER LUKEMAN, who have been the main shows in the last four Journal-Courier tournaments, should be the big shots in this one, but there are a number of junior players coming along who may rare up this year and do a little despite spilling.

Ham and Lukeman can remember when they were high school boys and knocking over the old timers.

BOB WRIGHT, Coach Foster Keagle, Eugene Keyes, and Coach Gordon Fisher of North Central College, have left for Minnesota where Coach Fisher is conducting a camp for adults, which he will operate during the summer vacation.

He picked a swell place to set up a camp, it seems to us, for the fishing up there usually is simply beyond description.

Keagle has his eye on a college coaching job for next fall, but has his contract back at Harrisburg, Ill., high with a nice increase in salary if he wants to go back. Wright will be at Morrison, Ill., next year.

BERNIE BIERMAN, Everett Dean, George Hauser and several other Big Ten shots, and Eugene Keyes, now athletic director at Casey, Ill., have gone into cahoots in a summer camp at Brainerd, Minnesota, this summer.

Brainerd is near the beautiful Mille Lake and will be the home of a camp for boys and girls.

EDDIE JACQUIN, Champaign News-Gazette sports editor, is having a big time this summer as official delegate to the International Rotary convention in Nice, France.

He's going to be gone for a couple months. Local basketball fans will remember him for his officiating here in college games during the past winter.

GOLFERS will gather in Peoria beginning June 16th for the annual Illinois State Amateur championship tournament.

The tournament will be held over the Mt. Hawley Country Club course, and the champion will receive the Louis L. Emerson trophy.

Bill Kostecky of Northwestern University, and John Krutilla, of Calumet City are among the early favorites.

IL DUCE GOOD COACH; ITALIAN BOXERS WIN

New York, June 10.—(P)—Apparently Benito Mussolini is as adept at handling out fight talks as the most oratorical football coach—and much more successful.

The Italian premier wired the Italian amateur boxing team a ringing message before they went into action against a squad of American fighters at the Yankee stadium last night. Result—the Italians won, six matches to five, and took the international golden gloves title.

The show, which, although it provided only one knockout, carried plenty of action. The knockout came when Willie Smith, a negro southpaw from Harlem, floored Frederico Cortesi, Italian featherweight, three times in the second round and the referee stopped the bout.

Ontario led all Canadian provinces in the production of creamery butter during the first 11 months of 1936.

Yankees Ruin Chicago's Win Streak; Browns' Rookie Socks Decisive Blow Over Senators

Chicago, June 10.—(P)—The New York Yankees clouters ruined the White Sox winning streak and first-place hopes today by pounding out a 10 to 3 victory before 20,000 fans.

The defeat ended the White Sox run of ten straight victories, longest streak in the big-time this year. It also dropped the Sox back into third place and left the world champions in undisputed possession of the American League lead again.

Although he led seven hits by Vernon Kennedy and Sugar Cain while the Sox were belting Bump Hadley for nine, the Yanks made every safe blow count.

It was their first victory in four starts and left them with a mediocre record of three wins and five defeats since they left Yankee stadium for their current western whirl.

St. Louis June 10.—(P)—Rookie Ben Huffman's ringing fourth inning double which drove three Browns home was the blow heard round Sportman's park today in St. Louis 6 to 3 victory over Washington.

Huffman's hit brought the Browns from behind and into a lead never relinquished. It also gave courage to Rus Van Atta, who fanned eight and scattered eight hits, until he retired for Sheriff Blake after walking two men in the ninth.

Jimmy Deshong of the Senators didn't allow a hit for three innings, and only seven for the game. A walk, an error by Buddy Myer and Joe Vosmik's single loaded the bases just prior to Huffman's base cleaning blow.

Detroit, June 10.—(P)—The Detroit Tigers put on a two-run rally with one out in the ninth inning to defeat the Philadelphia Athletics in the series finale today, 4 to 3.

Billy Rogell singled with the bases filled to provide the margin of victory.

Charley Gehring led the Tiger attack with a home run, a double and a single. Outfielder Wally Moses hit a circuit blow for the Athletics.

Tommy Bridges was credited with his seventh victory of the season.

Boston, June 10.—(P)—The Cincinnati Reds evened their four game series with the Boston Bees today by coming from behind with a two-run rally in the ninth to register a 6-5 victory over Ira Hutchinson, who, as usual, had to overcome a wobbly start.

The Reds pounded Hutchinson for four runs in the second, but the Bees overhauled them by clicking off three runs against Johnny Vandermeer in the third and single tallies off Al Hollingsworth in the fifth and sixth frames.

Will Begin June 21 on I.C. Courts; Three Divisions to Battle For Titles Again

The dates for the annual Journal and Courier tennis tournament this year have been set. The tournament will begin June 21 and continue until the champions in the customary three divisions are crowned.

The tournament this year will move back to its original site, the Illinois College campus, and will be played on both concrete and clay courts. If the entire list warrants, there is one concrete court available at the college, an asphalt court available just across the street at the home of Walter Bellatti, donor of the city singles championship trophy, and two clay courts available at this college, all of which may be put into use.

There will again be three divisions of the tournament: the city singles championship for the Walter Bellatti trophy and a medallion, the district singles tournament open to all persons living outside the city limits of Jacksonville and South Jacksonville, and a doubles tournament, into which will fall all teams entered in the doubles tournament.

The entry list will be officially opened tomorrow, and entries will be received until a week from today, Friday, June 18, at 6 p. m., at which time pairings will be made and published in the Saturday afternoon, June 19, issue of the Journal and the Sunday morning, June 20, issue of the Journal. Play in the tournament will begin June 21.

Title Defenders.
Bob Hamm, left-handed city champion, is expected to defend his crown. The little southpaw came back last year to take the title for the second straight year from Elmer Lukeman, who had the crown for two years before Hamm reached his heights. Lukeman also, is expected to be an entry, and probably will be one of Hamm's main opponents for the title.

These two youths have fought it out in the finals of the last three tournaments, Lukeman winning the title the first time in 1933 when he defeated Jack Moriarty in straight sets. They first got together in 1934, when Lukeman won his second crown by defeating Hamm 6-2, 6-4, 6-4, but the southpaw swinger reversed the decision in 1935 when he won from Lukeman 6-0, 6-0, 6-4.

Lukeman forced the issue into four sets last year, losing the crown for a second time to Hamm 2-6, 6-2, 7-5, 6-4. Hamm has won the open championship, a match between the city singles champion and the dis-

New Service Offered Fruit Growers By State; Will Hold Laboratory Sessions at Hardin and in Pike County; Livestock Marketed, Sanitation, Insecticides

In compliance with requests from fruit growers for some method of orchard certification, the Illinois Division of Markets' program whereby lead and arsenic sprayed orchards may be regulated to come within federal and state tolerances, has been outlined by J. H. Lloyd, director of the state department of agriculture.

Apple growers who believe their spray schedule will leave their fruit below the established residue tolerances at the time of harvest, may apply to the Illinois Division of Markets for orchard certification and laboratory service.

The present plan calls for laboratories at Anna, now open; Salem, beginning June 22; and at a later date in Pike county. Representatives of the department of agriculture will take all samples seven days before harvest and transmit them to the laboratories where a charge of $2.50 is made for analysis.

Samples taken by the grower will be analyzed for $1 as in previous year. No certificates will be issued covering such samples, however, H. M. Newell, superintendent of the division of markets, advised.

For complete details concerning orchard certification service, application should be made to the Illinois Department of Agriculture, Division of Markets, Springfield, or to the nearest laboratory.

Pike Feeders on the Market at National

Bickelmeier Bros. of Grigsbyville received $12.00 on June 1 for a shipment of nine spring lambs that averaged 77 pounds.

R. L. Stauffer of Baylis topped the market at the yards on May 31 when he shipped 28 spring lambs averaging 81 pounds at $12.00.

Bergman & Strauss of Pittsfield were on the market May 31 with 46 porkers averaging 237 pounds, which brought them $11.90 cwt.

Strauss & Bunn of Pittsfield were on the market the same day with 17 hogs averaging 707 pounds, that brought $9.78 cwt. Five head in the shipment averaged 1038 pounds and brought the same price.

Sanitation Cuts Insecticide Cost

Many Illinois greenhouse operators are saving thousands of dollars annually in insecticide costs through the practice of simple sanitary measures.

Report Nullifies Upturn in Wheat

Chicago, June 10.—(P)—Failure to confirm reports current that black rust had attacked spring wheat nullified late today 21 cents a bushel upturn of the Chicago wheat market.

More than four cents jump of Minneapolis wheat values took place, but was also largely wiped out. The black rust reports which were to the effect that for the first time this season the pest had been discovered in spring crop territory—namely, North Dakota near Grand Forks—brought only denials from responsible authorities.

Furried purchasing of wheat futures, however, resulted for a time, and was followed by brisk selling on the part of traders who were in a position to collect profits. Aside from the rumors of black rust spreading to spring wheat, interest centered mostly on the United States government crop which coming after trade had ended was construed as moderately bullish.

Wheat futures in Chicago closed unchanged to 1 of a cent higher, July $1.10-1.101, Sept. $1.091-1, Dec. $1.111-1, corn 1-1 down, July $1.131-1.14, Sept. $1.021-1, Dec. 75-76, oats 1 off to 1 up, July 391, and rye varying from 1 setback to 1 advance, July 861. The outcome in provisions was unchanged to 7 cents dearer.

Sentiment in Bonds Is Evenly Divided

New York, June 10.—(P)—Sentiment was about evenly divided in the Bond Market today and this inclination, coupled with indifference on the part of investors, left the list mixed to a little lower.

Recessions, however, were so minor they suggested lack of interest rather than anything resembling selling pressure. U. S. Government loans were typical of other sections of the market. Gains were limited to 1/32 of a point or less and losses ranged to 1 of a point. The total volume for listed federal obligations was about $300,000, face value, or less than that for one issue, under what might be called normal activity.

The domestic division worked a little lower as Rail, Utility and high grade bonds dipped. Industrials edged a little higher, however, and the general appearance of this portion of the list was mildly encouraging for those championing higher prices.

The Associated Press averages for 20 Rails settled 1 of a point to 83.7.

New York Stock Market

New York, June 10.—(P)—The stock market was a top-sided affair at the start and its contours were even more irregular at the close of today's session.

Fairly cheerful business news was offset by fresh clashes in the steel strike although there were some in Wall Street who thought they saw a possible settlement of this controversy in the near future.

The gold bug's bit was less noticeable in the financial sector, but many traders failed to see any appreciable break in the clouds surrounding the international position of the yellow metal.

Notwithstanding continuance of the labor rift, steel issues gave a better than ordinary performance in the morning. These fell back before the final gong. It was the same with rails and specialties. Late selling, while not especially insistent, pulled down numerous stocks that had recorded early gains of fractions to 2 or more points.

Volume was still less than half the amount necessary for most consolidation houses to break even on expenses. Transfers totaled 687,750 shares compared with 624,040 yesterday. The Associated Press average of 60 issues yielded 3 of a point at 67. It is now only 1.5 points above the year's low.

Progress Made in Livestock Market

Chicago, June 10.—(P)—The hog market made progress today toward consolidating gains made during the spectacular advance of the second and third weeks of May when prices swung up $1.50. Yesterday's top of $11.50 appeared to be the bottom of the reaction caused by topheaviness and the opposition of processors, and today the market had a firm tone at the start.

Trading opened active with prices 10 to 15 cents higher until most of the run had been disposed of. The top swung up to $11.60 with the bulk of good hogs going from $10.75 to $11.50. The run was 2,000 heavier than estimated Wednesday, but appeared to have no effect.

Cattle trade did not develop any spontaneous activity, but conditions favored a firm price schedule. Fresh supplies were hardly ample for trade needs, but buyers were in the mood to accept cheaper grades in order to cut costs of live butcher cattle.

Half the sheep run was billed direct to packers and the market was fully steady to stronger. Native spring lambs sold at $12.50 to $13 with the extreme top $13.25. Western springers brought $12.

Most Curb Shares In Downward Trend

New York, June 10.—(P)—For most curb shares the line of least resistance was downward today in conformity with the late movement on the big board.

A moderate increase in trading activity was at the expense of values in Oils, Utilities, Mines and various Industrials.

Dow Chemical, up 31 at 1351 and American Cyanamid "B," up 11 at 391 were the leaders of a small group which resisted the downward pull.

American Gas & Electric closed at 30, off 11; Great Atlantic & Pacific 851, off 11; Lake Shore Mines 481, off 1; McWilliams Dredging 24, off 1; Northern States Power "A" 181, off 1; Sherwin Williams 125, off 1.

Lawn Fete Becomes Fireside Gathering

Sunset Tea Held by Church Auxiliary at F. H. Rowe Home Wednesday

The third annual Sunset Tea, sponsored by the members of the Second Auxiliary of the W.H.M.S. of Grace church for the benefit of the Methodist Sunset Home for the Aged at Quincy, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Rowe on Mount Road on the evening of June 8th.

A garden program to be held on the lawn at the sunset hour had been planned, but due to the weather conditions it became a fireside gathering. However, much of the beauty of the garden had been brought in in the form of bowls and baskets of lovely roses and garden flowers which combined with the glow of open fire placed made a delightful setting.

Miss Edna Bracwell was the program leader, presenting the following program:

Hymn, "Day Is Dying in the West," by the group.
Prayer by Dr. John R. Edwards.
Kipling's, "The Glory of the Garden," read by Miss Bracwell.

"Trees" sung by Mrs. Arthur Shenkel.
Flute duet by Rev. E. A. Hedges and Miss Emma Hedges.

A group of readings by Mrs. Marion Chase Schaeffer of MacMurray College.

A brief address by Doctor Baker, superintendent of the Methodist Sunset Home.

An offering amounting to $26.00 was presented to Doctor Baker for the use of the Sunset Home.

Those present joined hands and sang, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," and Rev. Baker offered the closing prayer.

During the social hour that followed refreshments were served in the dining room.

Civil War Teaches 2 Lessons Declares Speaker

Prof. Geo. Adams Addresses Kiwanians Thursday on Situation in Spain

Two lessons have been learned from the Spanish civil war, now raging, said Prof. George Adams of MacMurray college, in a talk at the Kiwanian club meeting at the Jackson Inn here yesterday. They are that citizens of the United States should not have too high principles and they should keep themselves out of the "mess" in Europe, he said.

Mr. Adams spoke on "How Spain Took to Me," giving a brief history of politics in that country extending back many years and explaining events that have led up to the present conflict. He described the people of that country as being 70 per cent illiterate, passionate, deeply religious, very provincial, with various languages and different economic "set-ups."

Bloody wars on the pages of their histories, said the speaker—there have been no traditional settlements of things in conference—they fight it out. They have not had the experience in changes of government as have other nations, and they are a very religious people, probably the most religious in the world.

In 1922, said the speaker, Navarro took over the control of Spain as a dictator. He was succeeded in a short time by Primo Rivera, who accomplished some good things as well as bad ones. Acts taking place during this administration resulted in his withdrawal in 1930. He was succeeded by an inefficient minister.

Shortly after this the government was preparing for an election, municipal elections were held and the Republicans ran away with the contest, with the monarchist supporters being defeated. This led to a decision on the part of the government and the monarchist left his office. Following the general election, a constitution was set up as a president with a constitution that was liberal.

However, he was faced with land troubles in his country. In the north part of the country were many small land owners and persons with fifty year leases. In the south the situation was entirely different with large estates, where peasants worked for 10 or 15 years with living expenses as low as they are in the United States. The biggest land owner in Spain was the church, which as always has been a bad thing. He said that in 1931 an attempt was made to give the church and land problem a redistribution of real estate being planned. Laws were enacted making it a felony for any religious order to teach in schools of the country with the result that this left little room in 1933 this government was overthrown. A party in conservative economy was elected in 1934 giving victory to the Popular Front party, now in charge at Valencia.

The following day after the election many conservative Spaniards went over the border and the radicals began coming back. Riots were started and churches were burned. 170 being destroyed in three months. Political murders, leftists and leftists murdered rightists. The government ordered the distribution of real estate but did not move fast enough for the radicals. Who started, taking out of the middle of this chaos, came the Franco rebellion, with all kinds of people on each side.

This chaotic condition leaves a lesson that American people should be more tolerant of other principles and also teaches a lesson that this country should keep out of the "controversy," said Mr. Adams.

Unidentified Man Taken to Hospital; Refuses to Answer

Once Gave Name of Sammis But Now Says Nothing to Solve Mystery

Who is Howard Sammis? Or is that his name? Authorities at the Jacksonville State hospital don't know.

One of the most recent patients taken to the hospital between 25 and 30 years old. He will not talk, or respond to suggestions that might reveal his identity. Physicians said yesterday his mind is in a state of much confusion.

The mystery man, whose name may be Sammis, at that if the only name he has pronounced, was picked up this week by Pike county authorities near East Hannibal. After several hours questioning by physicians and officers failed to establish his identity, he was brought to the hospital Wednesday night.

The name "Howard Sammis" and residence of "Hannibal, Conn." elicited after repeated questioning, seems to be the only identification of the man.

The stranger was noticed in Pike county wandering about in a dazed condition. He had been fed and his pockets examined, when he was unable to answer questions about himself.

Adams county authorities had taken him into custody as a suspect in an Indiana robbery but he was released, and then is believed to have walked across the Quincy bridge into Missouri and back into Illinois over the Hannibal bridge. No labels were found in his clothing.

After more than an hour's questioning the mystery man turned to one of those present and inquired: "Are you Ed (or Red) Cunningham?" Attempts to follow up this lead were fruitless in learning who the man is, or how he happened to be in a dazed condition.

The young man is described as of slight build, about 5 feet, 8 inches tall, has gray eyes, which are dull and lack lustre, and slightly curly brown hair.

He wore a good suit of dark blue cloth, a heavy dark blue sweater beneath the suit coat, coarse black work shoes, coarse gray socks and a badly discolored black and white checked cap. There are certain mannerisms which indicate that he has not always followed an aimless existence.

An official of the state hospital medical staff said the man's reflexes were unresponsive and their questions unanswered. There is hope, the physician said, that the man's condition will improve so that a personal history may be obtained.

Women On Trail of Farmer Who Can't Find Housekeeper

Two Write and Say They Might Accept Job; Another "Wouldn't Have It"

Morgan County Man Seeks Housekeeper; Finds No Takers For Job. Remember that headline? It appeared in the Journal and Courier this week.

Since publication of a story in which a farmer aired his troubles in finding a housekeeper and someone to care for his five children, this has happened.

An employee of the county relief office called to state that relief authorities have assisted a man (whom they believe to be the one now seeking a housekeeper) in trying to solve his problem.

Three women have written the Journal and Courier, two expressing a desire to take the job; the other saying she wouldn't have it.

The name of the farmer wasn't used in the original story. But it can be procured from the Morgan County Relief office, or at least they know of a man with five children who is looking for a housekeeper.

She's Not Interested.

All of the communications received with reference to the first account are anonymous. But we'll print 'em, anyway.

Regarding Mr. Morgan County Citizen who has been so busy trying to find a housekeeper, would like to say that if he would count the hours he wishes a woman to work, and consider the pay per hour, he'll be surprised as I was that a man should want a woman to work for so small an amount and be responsible for five children.

"Any farm woman can tell you one has to be a witch to do the work for a family of seven in 12 hours per day. At this rate for six days a week a woman would work 312 hours a month for $44, which makes 14c per hour including board."

Other words, she says (in work) to an hour for her food and five nights lodging and has the other 7c an hour ($22.50) to buy eight nights' lodging and 16 meals a month, to say nothing of clothes, insurance, medical care, shoes or beauty shop bills. (She would not have energy for these, however.)

get married any day, and she would be without a place to work without notice."

It is no small thing for a woman to decide to work for a man and his family when she is no relation to them. There are two sides to every question. I'm not wanting a job, am not on relief, but I am a woman."

This Woman Wants Work.

Journal & Courier.

After reading the article in your paper of the gentleman seeking a housekeeper and unable to find one, I am at a loss to understand why, as I have answered all ads in your paper for the past few months, and do not remember the gentleman. But if the party has not obtained anyone so far, if there is a way to communicate with him I would like to get in touch with him as I am in need of employment for over a year. Because there is no phone where I live they have never called me. So if it is possible to have an answer through your columns I would appreciate it.

Thanking you.

"A Daily Reader."

Another Prospect.

The following letter was attached to a clipping of the news story concerning the man who wants help and cannot find it:

"Dear Sir:

I saw this ad in your paper. I would like ever so much to know whom the gentleman is. I am in a position to take the job and I have all the experience needed."

"Would like very much to see him and have a talk with him."

"The woman then gave directions on how to reach her home, but did not sign her name."

From the last two letters it would appear that there is a man who would be interested in the job. As the man said he had "consulted various local agencies assisting the unemployed" without results, we suggest that he get in touch with them once more, and that applicants for such work also communicate with relief or employment offices."

Not Guilty Verdict In Court Suit Here

Jury Finds in Favor of Defendant in Automobile Accident Suit

A verdict of "not guilty" was returned in county court here yesterday afternoon in the case of the People of Illinois against Fred McPadden, charged with wilfully and wantonly operating an automobile. The case grew out of an automobile accident which occurred on the evening of March 10th, 1936, when a car owned by Bowman Braden on South Main street.

Charged in an information with wilful and wanton operation of his car, his attorney, Carl E. Robinson, charged that he was not disregarding the rights of others or carelessly operating his machine. State's Attorney Oscar Zachary represented the state in the case.

The accident, which caused Miss Olivia Braden to lose six weeks in hospital with a broken jaw and which also resulted in injuries to Miss Helen Glaze, occurred when, as McPadden testified, he did not see an automobile owned by Bowman Braden parked on South Main street and crashed into the car, forcing it to cause considerable damage to an automobile owned by Ralph Stringam of West Walnut street, who was the complaining witness.

McPadden told the court that he did not see the Braden car, which Braden said he had parked there about 8:30 p.m. and had left the dimmers and tail light burning. Stringam also testified that he had left the tail light burning.

Miss Barnes told the jurors that McPadden had been passing up all of the traffic on South Main street, and that after leaving the corner of West College and South Main street he had looked at least once into the rear seat of the car, where Miss Glaze was riding with Oren Mallicoat. Miss Barnes said McPadden was driving about fifty miles an hour, and neither Miss Glaze nor Mallicoat would venture an opinion as to how fast McPadden was driving.

On the stand, McPadden told the court that he was driving about thirty-five miles an hour. Patrolman Albert Spreen also told the court that McPadden told him also that the accident that he was driving between thirty-five and forty miles an hour at the time of the accident. McPadden also testified that he didn't have time to set the brakes on his machine to avoid the crash.

In his opening statement, Attorney Robinson said he would produce testimony to show that if the defendant would have agreed to pay the damages the suit would not have been brought. He asked Ralph Stringam when he was under cross-examination if he would have signed the information if McPadden had paid the damages, and received an affirmative reply.

County Judge William E. Thomson heard the case on which C. O. Lair, G. A. Bennett, J. E. Scott, Clifton Moore, Harry Saly and Frank Piepenberg sat as jurors.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Campbell and family and Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Miller and family enjoyed Sunday dinner with Mrs. Martha Smith near Winchester. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell visited Mr. and Mrs. Harold Campbell Sunday afternoon and Mr. and Mrs. Miller visited Mr. and Mrs. J. Jouett.
